

Call for papers

The new FENStatS e-journal Science Statistics & Society is now ready to start its activities. The divulgation journal wishes to offer an international forum to promote the Statistical Sciences, with the specific aims to foster statistical literacy and to discuss relevant topics for the development of Statistical Sciences, by using a modern and simple style. Thus, we kindly invite you to submit up-to-date articles in all areas related to Statistics, Social Science and Demography, Economics, Data Science and AI. Accepted submissions to this journal track will be published online at:

<https://www.sciencestatisticsandsociety.eu/>

Papers on all topics related to Biostatistics, Data science, Decision Sciences, Demography, Econometrics, Economics, Education, Health, Machine learning, Official Statistics, Politics, Probability and Uncertainty Social Sciences, Statistics, Finance, are invited. All papers will follow a referral process by the editorial board. We will only accept papers that meet our quality and style standards.

Launch

The journal track submission will start September 21, 2020.

Submission and Publication

To submit this track, authors must send a word or pdf paper of maximum 10,000 characters, spaces included, to:

sciencestatisticsandsocietymag@gmail.com

Inquiries

For inquiries relating to the journal track please contact the Editor Corrado Crocetta, corrado.crocetta@gmail.com

Look forward to receive your contributions

September 16, 2020

Corrado Crocetta
Editor of Science Statistics & Society